

Junior Frontend Developer (m/f/d), Munich

We're looking for a Vue.js developer supporting us in building the go-to app for procurement and sales professionals in the pharmaceutical and chemical industries. Contribute to a solution that matters to everyone by making the global drug and chemical supply more transparent, efficient and reliable.

What you'll bring:

- Relevant development experience in fast paced environments (as intern/working student/freelancer etc.)
- Experience with JavaScript; libraries/frameworks like Vue or Angular
- Solid experience with HTML, CSS
- Solid experience with git
- A Plus: Experience with TypeScript, d3.js, node.js, Python, Flask
- Scrum, Agile or Kanban; working with a team in a collaborative manner
- Bachelor's degree or equivalent experience
- Excellent communication skills, a team player with a 'winning as a team' attitude
- Self motivated and taking pride in your work results

What you'll do:

- Write scalable and maintainable web components in Vue.js, Vuetify and SCSS
- Build new UI patterns while also refactoring older ones
- Find and address performance issues throughout and help identify and fix front-end bugs and issues
- Assist with documentation of new features, contributing to the documentation of existing ones
- Champion good habits (development techniques, security, tech debt balance, TDD, and agile habits) within your team; improve engineering standards, tooling, and processes
- Perform thorough code reviews and troubleshoot complex issues
- Work and collaborate with both design and backend development to help build new features or update existing ones

What we offer:

- Ownership and responsibility for features and projects
- A steep learning curve driving your personal growth
- An inclusive, non-hierarchical team with experienced and open-minded colleagues - we are at least five nationalities (six if you count Bavarian 😊)
- A fun work environment and team events on a regular basis

- Employee share options in our company
- Extensive trainings & coachings
- Unlimited coffee supply, a fun work environment, state-of-the-art equipment in our beautiful office in the heart of Munich (WERK1) and team events on a regular basis

About us:

We are a Munich-based tech startup bringing Big Data to the pharmaceutical and chemical markets. Our mission is to take away the pain of manual data processing and make relevant information easily accessible for business professionals. Our clients frequently emphasize how much easier and effective their work has become thanks to the up2date, highly granular and actionable information provided on our platform.

Being part of a fast-growing startup gives you endless opportunities to grow and take ownership. We'll make sure you have everything you need to do your best work and make the biggest impact possible at QYOBO.

Sounds exciting? Apply here or shoot us an email: team@qyobo.com